From the President

Dear Members, the Australian Geography Competition mailout was completed during the week of 12-15 March. Special thanks to Lilia Darii, Kath Berg, John and Mary Nowill for taking on extra responsibilities with this mailout and to members: Ian Francis, Roger Grimley, Neville McManimm, Mary Comer, Kay and Graham Rees, Bob Reed, Catherine Martin, John and Doreen Wilkinson for their help and other RGSQ members for their offer of assistance.

I am happy to report that the fit-out work at our new premises in Fortescue Street, Spring Hill is now complete. Staff and volunteers have been working tirelessly throughout this process to keep RGSQ activities going. I would especially like to thank Bob Abnett and his Gregory House Committee, (Paul Broad, Ian Francis, Chris Spriggs and Bernard Fitzpatrick), for their excellent work in designing, organising and supervising the fit-out, and for many member volunteers who have given their time and effort in setting up our new space. It's a pleasure to now be able to invite members to visit our new home on "Open day" on April 9th – see details in this Bulletin.

Long-time residents of Brisbane may have memories of Spring Hill. Now an extension of the CBD, many older residential and commercial structures have been replaced by modern office blocks and apartment buildings. Here are some historical snippets which I have managed to dig out about our neighbourhood.

Spring Hill is one of Brisbane's oldest suburbs, with many houses dating from the nineteenth century. Spring Hill was so named because the hill on which the suburb was built was the source of the creek that was Brisbane's first fresh water supply. Boundary Street was named due to the racist policy of separating Europeans from the Jagera and Turrbal peoples whose territories originally extended from Moreton Bay to Toowoomba, including Brisbane and Ipswich.

Aboriginal people were exiled beyond the boundary lines after 4pm, six days a week and completely on Sundays. Police troopers rode the perimeter cracking stock-whips and rigidly enforced the curfew.

Following land subdivisions in the 1870s, the lower Spring Hill slopes became increasingly overcrowded. By the time of the Great Depression in 1929, Spring Hill had become renowned for its seedy cheap rents, crowded boarding houses, high levels of unemployment, brothels and criminals which all helped to give Spring Hill a bad reputation that continued until the 1950s. In the 1960s some parts of Spring Hill began to attract young professionals who were drawn to the character of the area. This heralded an era of gentrification with many of the small timber and tin "workers" cottages and grand historic buildings along Wickham Terrace beautifully restored. Today, Spring Hill is one of Brisbane's most sought-after places to live. Fortescue Street is representative of these changes.

The Lady in Blue, 122 Fortescue Street

This is the former site of the Presbyterian Mission Hall. Deaconess May Walker gave forty years of her life looking after the poor and needy in Spring Hill, becoming known as the 'Blue Angel'. She sought to alleviate the poverty and hardship she saw in Spring Hill, particularly women and children. In the 1920s, St Andrew's Presbyterian Church constructed a mission hall on the corner of Fortescue and Wedd streets to assist with her endeavours. The hall became a community centre where those in need could go and be given food, clothing and nursing also. Now the site is residential units.

This building was constructed in 1879 by Irish bricklayer, William Jackson. Upon completion of the building, Jackson ran the unlicensed "Spring Hill Tavern" from the premises. Popular legend has it that it was so noisy and disreputable that a public petition demanded its closure in 1888.

The building was converted to a local store in the early 1900s. Renovations over the years have maintained its external heritage significance. The building is now a legal practice.

And now, 2019!

This row of five cottages called 'Park Terrace' was built between 1889 and 1890 by local engineer James Anderson as investment properties.

Fortescue Street was then a well-established suburban street. Targeted at a professional clientele, the rents for each cottage may have been higher than other houses in Fortescue Street. e.g. in 1890, the cottages were home to an engineer, an architect, the secretary of the Queensland Club and a Madame Boucherville (profession unknown). By 1910, the tenants renting the cottages had changed to artisan and working class people including a shop assistant, tailoress, prison guard and a missionary. Park Terrace had fallen into disrepair by the 1970s and Spring Hill's character and proximity to the city was increasingly valued. By 1988, all five cottages had been restored and they are still there today.

APRIL 2019 LECTURE

THE URBAN FARM: GROWING FOOD AND LEADERS FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

presentation by Nataleen Kilburn

Date: Tuesday, April 2, 2019

Time: 7.30pm-9pm

Venue: Lavalla Centre, 58 Fernberg Rd, Paddington QLD 4064

RSVP: <http://rgsq.org.au/whatson>

In 2015, the 'big idea' of creating an Urban Farm at St Laurence's College, South Brisbane, was the driver of change that transformed a barren space wedged between a multilevel carpark and a towering concrete retaining wall. Today, the Urban Farm is a unique working model of urban food production and sustainability, with the 500sqm space supporting mixed-farming methods and recycling activities. With sustainability education at the heart of its mission, the Urban Farm has evolved to become a multi-purpose teaching and learning space for not only St Laurence's students and staff, but also for class groups from other schools who visit the farm as a field trip destination. Terri Butler MP, Federal Member for Griffith, Hon. Jackie Trad, Deputy Premier Qld, and Cr. Johnathan Sri for the Gabba Ward have all visited the Urban Farm. With the ability to achieve many pastoral and curriculum objectives, and through the powerful outreach capacity of social media, the Urban Farm's reputation as a unique educational platform has gone global. Nataleen is happy telling the Urban Farm story. It is an upfront and honest account of the frustrations and celebrations, the losses and wins, the challenges and successes - foreseen and unforeseen - that saw an awkwardly-shaped and disregarded sliver of space become a school asset so prized, that in 2018 the Urban Farm cemented its future by being included on the new College site map and official school website.

Bio: Nataleen (Nat) Kilburn moved from the wettest place in Australia to Brisbane in 1990. She is a Geography teacher at St Laurence's College, South Brisbane, where she has been working for just over 10 years. In her role as a middle-manager in this large inner-city school, she is the Head of the Humanities Faculty, including Years 7 to 12 Ancient History, Modern History and Geography curriculum areas, and directly leads a team of 12 teachers. In recent times Nat has taken the Urban Farm story to the Ekka Rural Discovery Day, Laneways Music Festival, Geography Teachers' Association Qld Conference, and International Boys' Schools Coalition Conference. At least once every couple of months Nataleen thinks about walking away from the enormous job of overseeing the Urban Farm, but in the midst of a social and political climate so often stained with fear, pessimism and hopelessness, magic happens at the Urban Farm, and she doesn't want to miss a thing.

UPPER YABBA VALLEY

WEEKEND TREKS

TREK A July 20-21, 2019: Baiyambora Gorge, Gates of Yabba & Yabba Falls

TREK B August 9-11, 2019: Two Gorges: Yabba Falls & Kingaham Gorge

These trek weekends are an activity of The Royal Geographical Society of Queensland.

Registrations are now open for both these treks and full details are on the RGSQ website <https://rgsq.org.au/whatson>.

TREK A July 20-21: YABBA FALLS Baiyambora Gorge, Gates of Yabba & Fishermans Spur (return Day Hike) & Yabba Falls (Field Day)

SATURDAY 20th - RETURN DAY HIKE: Good fitness required

To enter into the Baiyambora Gorge is to enter into majesty! There is much to discover and wonderful landscapes to assess. The main hike is challenging, but safe. It is a 9km day hike. The descent is 300m down a spur then following the creek and gorge upstream into Gates of Yabba with access to the foot of Yabba Falls and the Primaeval Forest.

SATURDAY 20th - ADVENTURE OPTION THROUGH HIKE including abseiling descents

The experience of standing beside Top Pool looking up at the plunging falls is unforgettable. To explore The Showerroom is a must. To stand above Gate of Heaven and look down to the second bottom of the gorge is awesome. To do science down there measuring girth of towering hoop pines, or recording fungi, is important research. Maximum for 5 people.

Abseiling will be provided by qualified abseiling guides (Climbing Guides Australia). There will be two descents each between 40 and 60 metres. Those doing abseiling must be prepared to walk out from the base of the falls along a creek bed. This is about a 4km walk, ascending 300m, although alternative steeper ascents are possible.

Abseiling Cost: $180 each (GST Incl), includes insurance for this activity.

Pre-booking and prior payment essential for this option.

The group of abseilers will meet up with the hikers and leave the gorge together.

SUNDAY 21st - YABBA FALLS

Yabba Falls: Described by the custodians of Conondale Conservation as "Booloomba on steroids!", Yabba Falls is our primary destination today. It will be a gentler day than the previous one. The falls will be viewed from the plateau, looking down into the gorge from different vantage points above Top Plunge, through Eye of the Needle, from Superb Corner Lookout and Weaner Rock. Opportunities for plant identification, or field sketching, drone photography, or unravelling the structural geology enigmas.

TREK B August 9-11, 2019: Two Gorges

SATURDAY 10th - BAIYAMBORA GORGE & YABBA FALLS

There is much to discover and wonderful landscapes to assess. The main hike is challenging, but safe. It is a 9km day hike. The descent is 300m down a spur then following the creek and gorge upstream into Gates of Yabba with access to the foot of Yabba Falls, and the Primaeval Forest.

SUNDAY 11th - KINGAHAM GORGE FIELD DAY

Today the bushwalking will take us into another environment with different geology, landforms including a series of waterfalls, pools and puzzles: Two Step Falls, The Ballroom Pool, Ochre Falls, Broken Mirror Falls, Masons Quarry, Broken Femur Falls, The Greenstone Crater. Serendipity might be the essence of the day.

Opportunities abound for landscape aesthetics assessment, landform recording, vegetation identification, photography and drone imaging (if you bring your own drone).

Only moderate fitness required for this day, which can be tailored for your level of agility.

FITNESS

The weekend is appropriate for people with good bushwalking fitness and endurance, though a range of fitness levels can be catered for by some tailoring of the program:

1. easy but rough walk to top of Yabba Falls and Weaner Rock;
2. moderate challenge due to length of slopes gives access into Upper Yabba country and into Gates of Yabba and Baiyambora Gorge;
3. challenging hike (9km return with 300m descent and return ascent) into Gates of Yabba with access to the foot of Yabba Falls, and the Primaeval Forest.

Walking will be on unformed tracks through open grazing country including grasses and timbered country, and over rock surfaces. There is no current infrastructure (e.g. paths, safety fences), so caution must be exercised especially in rock locations and cliff areas. Comfortable and sturdy shoes should be worn while walking, a hat, sunscreen and water are imperative.

LOCATION

People need to assemble at Borumba Deer Park, Yabba Creek Road, Imbil by 7.30am on the Saturday morning and again on the Sunday morning. This trek will involve two days, returning to Imbil on both days. Access to the field site from Imbil requires a 4WD vehicle, so we will be carpooling for those who do not have a 4WD. Please advise if you have a 4WD and are prepared to help transport participants from Borumba Deer Park and back on each day.

Assembly Point: Borumba Deer Park, 1133 Yabba Creek Road, Imbil

COST: TREK A or TREK B

Registration <https://rgsq.org.au/whatson>: $25 per person includes a BBQ (food and non-alcoholic drinks) on Friday 'Meet and Greet', and Saturday evening.

Paid registration by Wednesday 10 July 2019.

OPTIONAL ABSEILING COST: 'TREK A' Only

Abseiling Cost: $180 each (GST Incl), includes insurance for this activity.

Pre-booking and prior payment essential for abseiling.

REPORT: Map Group Presentation

"Visit to Queensland State Archives (QSA) and its Map Collection"

by Bob Abnett

On Wednesday, 6th March, twelve RGSQ members met for a Map Group tour at the Queensland State Archives, Runcorn. The order of the morning was a 45-minute talk in a lecture theatre followed by 30 minutes in the Map Storage Room (non-public area), ending with 10 minutes in the Reading Room being instructed on how to do our own searching of the Archives.

QSA's Archivist gave Map Group an initial Introduction to the Archives. The Archives first started collecting maps and records in 1959 and stores maps of Queensland dating from 1824. However, the majority of the maps are from the commencement of Queensland in 1859, whilst maps prior to this belong to New South Wales and are stored in Sydney. This talk was followed by another on how QSA Preserves Maps and Records which come into its possession. This talk detailed how QSA staff treated mould, dust and dirt, pest infestations, and contamination of the maps and records. All staff are trained for emergencies when such pollutions are found. This talk also detailed the best methods of storage of these documents: in cool, dry, clean and dark cabinets, shelves, filing cabinets and boxes. Steel cabinets are better than timber. QSA never destroys records and maps despite their condition. However, they digitise the maps as soon as possible. QSA has not started to store any modern digitized maps.

Map Group was then taken to the Map Room to view maps and records, including an 1842 surveyor's map of Brisbane with approximately twenty-four lots marked out on both the north and south banks of the Brisbane River. This map was pulled from storage specifically for Map Group. It had never been shown to any other group before.

A number of the other maps included the first survey of Gayndah 1852; a road map of Gayndah to Maryborough; the town of Maryborough; a more recent map of Queensland; original documents written, which started the searches for Burke and Wills; and copies of maps showing the routes of explorers of Queensland.

Map Group members in the Reading Room

Map Group was then shown a demonstration in the Reading Room – the public viewing room - on how to use the search tools that are free for the public to use.

QSA staff also provided Map Group's Event organiser with information in relation to grants available which may assist in the storage of the RGSQ maps at its own premises.

RGSQ Website App

Wild Apricot for Members

- is a free App for IOS (Apple) or Android phones that is very convenient for managing your RGSQ events. You can book and pay for events as well as check your bookings.

With a finger click you can ensure that all your bookings go into your calendar as a reminder, just in case you forget. How easy is that?

Download Wild Apricot for Members from the App Store and use your normal RGSQ account/password to login. Next time you open the App, it will automatically log you in. And yes - you can also pay your membership fees and update your personal profile. New features will be added from time to time.

Australian Geography Competition

Volunteer Help Needed

From the 8th of April to end of April - we would like to call on members to assist with the scanning of the returned answer sheets. At present no specific dates can be given as it depends on when and how many sheets are returned at any time. This job is very repetitive and requires concentration and attention to detail to ensure no mistakes are made. If you would like to help or enquire about the task, please contact the Society's Office on 07 3368 2066.
